

Reading Women: Literacy, Authorship, and Culture in the Atlantic World, 1500-1800

By Heidi Brayman Hackel, Catherine E. Kelly

University of Pennsylvania Press. Paperback. Book Condition: new. BRAND NEW, Reading Women: Literacy, Authorship, and Culture in the Atlantic World, 1500-1800, Heidi Brayman Hackel, Catherine E. Kelly, In 1500, as many as 99 out of 100 English women may have been illiterate, and girls of all social backgrounds were the objects of purposeful efforts to restrict their access to full literacy. Three centuries later, more than half of all English and Anglo-American women could read, and the female reader was emerging as a cultural ideal and a market force. While scholars have written extensively about women's reading in the nineteenth and twentieth centuries and about women's writing in the early modern period, they have not attended sufficiently to the critical transformation that took place as female readers and their reading assumed significant cultural and economic power. Reading Women brings into conversation the latest scholarship by early modernists and early Americanists on the role of gender in the production and consumption of texts during this expansion of female readership. Drawing together historians and literary scholars, the essays share a concern with local specificity and material culture. Removing women from the historically inaccurate frame of exclusively solitary, silent reading, the authors collectively...
