When Christ called Andrew and Peter, they left their father, and went after him (Mark i. 20). So when Christ called Zaccheus, he made haste, and came down, and received him joyfully (Luke xix. 6). So Christ to Matthew, Follow me. And he arose and followed him (Matt. ix. 9). Julian the apostate scoffs at these passages, as if it were irrational to conceive such a thing could be, that men should so soon leave their course of gain and their calling; or else, that Christ s followers were a kind of sots and fools, weak and poor-spirited creatures, that, upon a word speaking, they would come oft presently all of a sudden; but impulsions of the spirit carry their own reason with them, and draw the heart without any more ado. But such as be were not acquainted with the workings of the Holy Ghost in conversion, therefore scoff at these things. So, Immediately I conferred not with flesh and blood (Gal. i. 16): when our call is clear, there needs no debate. When men stand reasoning instead of running, there is not a thorough work upon them. Reason II. - The sooner we turn to the ways of God, the better we speed. How so? 1. Partly in this, that the work goes on the more kindly, as being carried forth in the strength of the present influence and impulsion of grace; whereas, if the heart grow cold again, it will be the more difficult....
